

Investment Overview

At Hemenway Trust Company, our investment approach is based on several over-arching principles.

- Third, our investment horizon is long-term. We believe that the important trends in the economy develop over years and we have built a track record that has compounded impressive returns in a tax efficient manner.

Equities

We build our equity portfolios both with individually selected common stocks and with carefully selected sub-managers. Recently, we have shortened the duration of our bond portfolio given the marginal yield differential to take on duration risk. In larger accounts or where otherwise appropriate, we engage sub-managers to manage bond accounts that complement our core bond holdings. Those sub-managers will, at times, invest in high-yield bonds, and bonds issued by companies outside the United States.

Other Asset Classes

In appropriate accounts, we invest in asset classes outside our core equity and bond portfolios. Those asset classes are intended to provide additional sources of return - these include: venture capital, private equity, real estate, hard assets and hedge funds. Exposure to these alternative assets is gained through direct investment, primary, and fund-of-fund vehicles, tailored to client needs and appetites.
